How are you, Boston Line?

Long before the fashion industry discovered blue jeans, the German immigrant Löb Strauss (better known as Levi Strauss) transformed the denim work trousers into a popular all-rounder.

Even today, durable denim remains a symbol of true artisantry and authenticity.

The Boston Line was inspired by the inventive genius and optimism of the gold rush years in the USA, when Levi Strauss developed the legendary prototype of all work trousers. The characteristic denim look impresses not only as a timeless fashion piece but also with its durability in everyday use.

The high cotton content ensures vapour permeability, or to put it more simply: high wearing comfort even when temperatures soar.

Make the Boston Line the casual must-have in your changing room lockers. Your employees will love the breathable, skin-friendly and light fabric quality. Make the look entirely your own with customisable combination options.

Boston is known as the “Cradle of Liberty” and is one of the oldest cities in the USA. The “Grand Old Lady of the New World” played a pivotal role in the American War of Independence.

Styling tip:

Denim looks are true all-rounders:

From casual to elegant, there are almost endless styling options open to you.

Feminine, masculine, other: jeans are true unisex experts.

Nǐ hǎo, Asia Line

Indigo, the “blue of India”, enchants with its deep and mystical hue reminiscent of a midnight sky. The last dark blue shade before the purple colour scale symbolises serenity and discretion. Rich blue tones like indigo have an inward effect and invite you to focus on the essential.

This tranquil and restrained presence is the primary characteristic of the Asia Line. The medium-heavy polycotton blend is soft to the touch and ensures a high level of wearing comfort which harmonises with the calming effect of the shade.

Dyeing with indigo has formed the basis of ancient textile traditions for centuries, not least because of the excellent light stability of indigo blue.

Styling tip:

The colour blue is an absolute classic and all-rounder in all of its shades.

The deep dark blue of the Asia Line ensures elegant vibes and can be worn in any season.

Boost the calming effect of the colour with tone-on-tone combinations.

Combine the Asia Line with beige for a poised look or classically with white and red in maritime style.

Welcome to the Bahamas Line

Welcome your guests wearing the Bahamas Line just as you would expect it from the archipelago from which it takes its name: with a healthy dose of warmth, beauty and luxury. The Caribbean flair of the Bahamas Line exudes hospitality, enjoyment of your work and an easy-going attitude to life.

The warm hue of the Bahamas Line, lying between red and purple, sets agreeable colour accents that are not too flashy.

The medium-weight polycotton blend is soft to the touch and offers skin-friendly wearing comfort.

Styling tip:

The rich Bordeaux of this collection promises quality and yet comes across as casual at the same time.

Combine the Bahamas Line with understated colours: black, beige, grey and even white always complement it well.

Bold colour combinations are also possible. Pink and salmon hues go perfectly with Bordeaux, as does lilac.

The Bahama Mama is the islands' favourite cocktail. It is usually made with a combination of three rums: a dark rum, a coconut rum and a light rum.

The Coast Line collection impresses with its classic look, a nod to the nobility of the fashionable seaside resorts on the North Sea and Baltic Sea coasts where the wealthy middle classes spent their summers at the beginning of the 20th century.

Another characteristic of the Coast Line collection are the pinstripes, which are reminiscent of formal business attire. A white stripe on a dark background: elegant but welcoming and a universal symbol of professional business acumen.

The Coast Line pattern is understated, but still makes a fashionable statement and evokes a sense of sophistication. Welcome your guests with a respectful air – wearing the Coast Line.

Good afternoon, Coast Line

Pinstripes have their origins not in formal attire but rather in sportswear. The striped sailing and tennis outfits inspired the dark double-breasted suit with thin white stripes of the 1920s and 1930s that quickly gained popularity in the USA especially.

Styling tip:

Get in on the straight-line trend of the Coast Line.

Thin pinstripes never go out of fashion and will be a constant companion of your team for years to come.

Complete the look with elegant black or white basic pieces.

Ciao, Amalfi Line

The Amalfi Line brings the magical Italian joie de vivre to your business. The collection was inspired by tourism on the Amalfi Coast and a lifestyle that Federico Fellini immortalised in his film "La Dolce Vita".

The Amalfi Line represents this same casual lifestyle that lets you forget about stress and hectic. Not to forget the wonderful quality of the Italians – solving problems with a smile.

Immerse yourself in the holiday feeling with the Amalfi Line. The timelessly elegant workwear exudes sociableness and openness, plus it is available in a wide range of colours with classic cuts.

The Amalfi Coast has enchanted tourists since the 19th century. One of its most famous guests was the composer Richard Wagner, who visited Ravello in 1880.

Styling tip:

Midi is the most popular length in Italy as it is wonderfully elegant.

No fashion-conscious Italian woman would ever leave the house in an oversized T-shirt: combine the Amalfi Line with tailored tops such as blouses.

Choose skin-friendly basics for a care-free summer feeling.

The Urban Line collection stands for a modern, urban lifestyle. There is no space for conventions; individuality is the top priority. It is all about what appeals and looks casual.

The Urban Line collection draws its inspiration from the street styles of this world and the associated lifestyle. Casual, confident, cool and comfortable are where it's at.

Urban, cosmopolitan city nomads also get their money's worth in their work environment with the Urban Line. Refined black and grey hues offer freedom for individual combination with your own favourite items. Okay, cool!

The company Keds was the first to introduce lace-up shoes with rubber soles instead of leather soles, making it easy to sneak up on people, which is why the term "sneakers" is common in North America.

At your service, Oxford Line

Checks have been one of the most important pattern trends in the fashion industry for many years. With the Oxford Line you can now get this timeless all-rounder on your team.

The fine-checked blouses and shirts give the wearer a trustworthy and competent air. The sleek elegance of the typical Vichy check is characteristic of the Oxford Line.

Many people experience a feeling of familiarity and home when they see Vichy textiles.

The Vichy patterns became a fashion trend in the 1950s. Brigitte Bardot, Audrey Hepburn and Alain Delon wowed us with the Vichy check back then and the classic check pattern is still a source of inspiration for designers around the world even today.

The name Oxford Line draws on the British penchant for classic textiles and patterns. Quintessentially British, the understated pattern can be styled and combined in a wide variety of ways.

Styling tip:

The Oxford Line check pattern is not only fashionable but also easy to combine.

Bonjour, Paris Line

Et voilà: Discover the Paris Line from CWS Workwear. Its focus is on premium quality, as is standard in French cuisine.

The cosmopolitan city of Paris is the birthplace of fine taste and haute cuisine. That's reason enough for us to honour it with its own collection.

Diverse, down-to-earth and yet still exquisite – just like the food that brings people together in the city's bustling bistros, every item in the Paris Line range is an homage to the savoir-vivre of the French. Would you like to take a closer look? Mais oui!

The “gastronomic meal of the French” was inscribed in the UNESCO List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity in 2010. Their haute cuisine is a role model for all upmarket cuisines around the world.

Styling tip:

From classic to modern: The Paris Line offers you a selection of black chef's jackets with matching bandanas, double-breasted chef's jackets in classic white with a bistro cap and chef's trousers featuring the typical houndstooth pattern.

That hygienic reprocessing of the clothing in line with HACCP principles and guidelines is included in our service is something which goes without saying.

Choose active environmental protection

Because you don't just wear clothing – you also bear responsibility.

Our vision at CWS: Contributing to a healthier and safer tomorrow, creating sustainable values for future generations. In short: Collaborating actively on a future fit for the generations to come.

Our responsibility begins with the selection of our partners, the raw materials we use, the electricity consumption in our laundries, the transport logistics and the use of plastic packaging, naturally extending over the product's entire service life, the end of which is increasingly not characterised by an end, but rather upcycling and recycling.

Anyone wanting to know more can now find detailed information on the environmental impact of our garments on the Know what you wear website (cws.com/kwyw).

You already know that CWS Workwear has been paying attention to the sparing use of resources for many years and is sustainable. Our Know what you wear label now shows you exactly how sustainable each individual garment can actually be. The key to the information is the QR code, which you can find on the respective label. Discover what you are wearing against your skin and accept responsibility for the conservation of our planet with us.

We have been offering workwear for a wide range of professions in a great variety of industries since 1899 – and our range has never stopped growing.
